

IT Recovery Solutions

Full-service recovery from de-installation and pickup to transportation and resale

While it's in service, business technology can help you solve problems. But when it's time to replace that technology, removing and recovering it can create problems. Whether you're upgrading, relocating or consolidating your technology, Data Sales Co. offers IT Recovery Solutions to simplify the process and make sure that your out-of-service technology is handled safely and securely.

We have unparalleled IT recovery experience, as well as the personnel and equipment to handle removing large amounts of equipment. We deal exclusively with business technology, so we've established remarketing channels and a cost-efficient process to help you recapture your equipment's value and reduce the cost of processing.
